~Safety Seminars for CRCA Members - CRCA’s Safety Committee held its first seminar “The Importance of Recordkeeping” for OSHA 300 Forms, April 19. OSHA’s Bill Coulehan, Calumet City office, moderated a great session, with attendees taking tips to their businesses. CRCA may repeat the seminar this winter. CRCA hosts another seminar on “Accident Investigation” Wednesday July 19, 9am – 11 am, at Aramark, in Downers Grove. Send your staff to these important seminars. October’s topic is Fire Safety, and January ’07 features more on Fall Protection. To download the registration form, visit <http://crca.org/documents/JulyCRSPflyer.pdf>

~CRCA Golf Outing – Over 250 CRCA Contractors, Distributors, Manufacturers and Manufacturers Representatives had a day of fun, fellowship and good golf for the 2006 Industry Golf Outing, Thursday, July 13th. If you haven’t experienced a CRCA Golf Outing and Dinner, you are missing a great event with several golf awards and awesome door prizes. Silver Lakes Country Club is the venue. Visit the CRCA Website for more pictures that show the industry goodwill built during this important event (<http://www.crca.org>)

~CRCA Fall 2006 Membership Meetings – CRCA’s September 12 (Maggiano’s Schaumburg) and November 14 (Maggiano’s Oak Brook) Membership Meetings topics will cover Contracts and Insurance issues, and Safety.

~MRCA coming to New Marriott Renaissance Convention Center - Mark your calendars now. The MRCA Show features very timely and informative Technical Programs and a first class trade show, a Golf Outing at Ruffled Feathers or Sporting Clay Tournament, cutting edge Technical and Business Programs plus great industry exchange from contractors, architects, engineers and specifiers. Look for seminars on Ventilation, Photovoltaics, Code info, Steep Roofing Products. Plus, CRCA Leaders are also leaders at MRCA...current MRCA President is Jim Brosseau...with Rod Petrick, Joe McDevitt, and Jay Refieuna very active on committees and the board. Programs take place at the new Schaumburg Marriott Renaissance Hotel and Convention Center. For info about seminar fees, or free trade show floor passes, and other info, visit <http://mrca.org/i4a/pages/index.cfm?pageid=3572> .

~CRCA 2007 Trade Show – It’s never too early to talk about the CRCA Trade Show & Seminars. The call for presentations is currently posted at the CRCA Website, http://crca.org/crca_events/trade.htm . If you want to speak to the association, submit a topic for consideration. Email bill@crca.org if you have any questions. Additionally, there is a list of exhibitors, an exhibitor application, and archives of activities from last years’ successful show.

~NRCA Spec Right Seminar for Contractors – NRCA recently launched its SpecRight Program Contractor Training Sessions. These programs are focused at training contractors to gain a competitive edge by helping customers save money by lowering their energy costs. The seminar will teach attendees how to use NRCA’s EnergyWise Roof Calculator software to illustrate how insulation costs can be recouped through energy savings. Info about the latest trends in energy codes, ASHRAE 90.1, the Chicago Energy Code and California’s Title 24 and ‘cool roofs, green roofs' will be presented. To register, visit <http://www.specright.net/training/> CRCA/NRCA members receive a discounted rate of $545 to attend the one day seminar.

~CRCA Member FM Technical Advisory – The CRCA office and many CRCA Contractor & Associate Members have seen the new requirements for Factory Mutual Approvals' (FM) 1-29 Data Sheet unveil in specifications. In situations where the specifier requires a 1-90 wind, hail and fire resistance rating, the FM 1-29 Data Sheet requirements become part of the FM 1-90 specification.

CRCA expects information from FM about these changes plus a position statement from FM when it is released in the near future. MRCA published a technical position paper about the new changes to the FM Data Sheets. http://crca.org/Resources/architect_resources%20.htm , (Architect / Consultant Resources), for information.
