

CRCA Member honored with Clyde Scott Award

Hillside, IL., January 28, 2010- Roofs, Inc.'s Joe McDevitt won the Chicago Roofing Contractors Association (CRCA) Clyde Scott Award, recognizing leadership in the Chicagoland Roofing Industry over many years. "Joe has been a driving force in CRCA as a leader of the safety and labor committees, and much more", stated CRCA 2010 President Chris Adler.

The Clyde Scott Award is the highest award given by the CRCA. Clyde Scott was involved with several other industry associations that influenced the Chicagoland Roofing and Waterproofing Industry. Clyde's "Unique and immeasurable dedication to the Chicago Roofing Contractors Association and the Roofing Industry", warranted naming the award for him. Rewarded to a person who has influenced the Roofing and Waterproofing Industry throughout their many years of service, the award is given when a person deserving the award is chosen by the CRCA Awards Committee, and not necessarily every year.

Roofs, Inc. is a second generation family operated roofing contractor providing professional roofing contractor services to clients throughout the Chicagoland marketplace. From low sloped reflective single ply systems to garden roofs on projects from landmarks to simple buildings, Roofs, Inc. is known for innovation and quality.
